Attention all choir members! Choir has been canceled for the rest of the week. Enjoy your time off. Do your homework and keep those grades up. Also, don't forget: Next week is the last week to join choir for the rest of the year - that includes any 8th grader that wants to sing at their graduation. So, don't forget to bring a buddy or 10 to choir next week, especially those guys! All new choir members will receive several choir points, and so will the person who recruits them. See you next week with a buddy!
