A Peek at the Week

This week we read stories about children and their dogs! Many of your children had dog stories to share as they made connections with the readings for this week. We explored -ou/ow words & the kids made an impressive list of words with that medial sound. In Math we started the chapter with higher numeric number problems. Plan to work with your child over the summer to complete the math book.

Looking Ahead

Next week is the last spelling test! YEA! We will be finishing the book next week and I will be sending it home if your child wants to take it to show you. We will continue with Math until the end to accomplish as much as possible. We will be staying engaged in reading, writing and math until the end.

FYI

Mrs. Klinsky & I are planning to have an end of the year pizza/lunch party with the reading buddies. We plan to get pizza for the kids to eat while they all watch a Disney movie! ☺

Special Thanks

To everyone who were able to attend the Open House Night & see all your children have accomplished as well as the special classes they attend and the next year!

SummerWork

Consider how you are planning to maintain your child's skills over the summer. They should have regular reading times as well as writing projects like letters to Gma or a journal. Flash cards for the Math facts could be done on long or short trips in the car.
